COME AND SEE US.

HEADQUARTERS REP. STATE CENTRAL COM., MILWAUKEE, June 15, 1884.

The Republican State Central Committee has opened convenient and commodious headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Milwaukee. All republicans, and especially those of our own state, are cordially invited to call when in the city. All republican papers published in the state, and many of the leading journals of the country, will be kept on file.

Come and see us. H. A. TAYLOR, Chr.
C. PAYNE, Sec.

After diligent search for six weeks, the democrats have not found in what sense Cleveland is a reformer.

The strong hopes that the democrats planted in Cleveland six weeks ago, have faded like the flower under the frost of winter.

They have been looking around for a man having more impudence than Carl Schurz, and they have found him—Jeff Davis.

As the days glide swiftly by, the chances are improving that Cleveland will not be in Washington on inauguration day next March.

Colonel Vilas, of this state, is booked for fifty speeches this campaign. The republican party is booked for 25,000 majority in Wisconsin.

The reason the democrats are delaying the opening of the campaign is that they don't know whether to run Cleveland on his record or run him blind.

The still-hunt policy seems to be the plan of the democratic party. A party that has not the courage to fight openly and aggressively for its principles is not a party that can win in this election.

General Hancock once wrote a little letter about the tariff, and it cost him thousands of votes. Mr. Cleveland didn't have the courage to say anything about the tariff, and this will cost him thousands of votes, also.

The Rev. H. M. Turner, now a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church south, was commissioned by President Lincoln as the first colored chaplain in the United States army. He is the first colored man to receive the degree D. D. and LL. D.

It will be really too bad if the democrats do not show a little fight in this campaign. The republicans would enjoy the canvass much better to have a set-to with the democracy. Their victory would be all the more satisfactory.

Reports from Michigan say that the republicans in that state are not alarmed by the democratic-greenback fusion, such men as General Alger, Senator Palmer and Carson Lake feeling confident of 20,000 republican majority in November.

It is not strange that we find daily some republican paper recommending the withdrawal of Cleveland—Boston Post.

The recommendation, or rather the demand for Cleveland's withdrawal, comes from the independent and the democratic papers. No republican paper would be foolish enough to wish that Cleveland would get off the democratic ticket.

To prevent the republicans from capturing any congressional districts in the south, the bourbon organs are urging the democrats to see that the "precautions necessary in such cases are not neglected." These "precautions" as defined by the democratic vocabulary, are the shot-gun intimidations, and false counting of votes.

The nomination of Blaine did not turn the democratic national committee more purple than the misfortune that overtook them last week in Washington. The congressional committee thought it was sending out Senator Voorhees's speech on the McEnery election case, but instead sent out 10,000 pamphlets on the "History and Benefits of Protection."

This will be decidedly discouraging to the democrats; "Senator James F. Wilson, ex-Governor Kirkwood and Governor Sherman, of Iowa, concur in saying that the prohibition movement in that state will not be serious, and that the nomination of an electoral ticket by that party is improbable." These men understand the sentiment in Iowa as thoroughly as any three men possibly can, and what they say can be relied upon.

Some time ago Mr. Speaker Carlisle spoke at a free trade dinner in New York and during his laudation of free trade, theories he asked if unrestricted commerce among 60,000,000 of people is a good thing, why would it not be a good thing to have it, say, among all the peoples of the world? A more pointed answer to this could not be made than that given by the Boston Pilot, a Catholic paper: "If a profitable business is a good thing to have in a family, why would it not be a good thing to share with the neighbors? If all the world belonged to the United States it would be a good thing to abolish tariffs; but at present self-interest is the wise, if selfish, policy of this country. When the rest of the world is willing to share the cost of our liberties it will be time enough to give it the benefit of our commerce."

A WORD FOR WORKINGMEN.

The independents who support Mr. Cleveland, and the national democratic committee, are sending out pamphlets that contain the statement that wages in the United States are declining. A more ridiculous and untrue assertion could not be made. The statement is so devoid of truth that even the Springfield (Massachusetts) Republican, an independent paper, took the pains to gather from the most reliable sources, the wages which prevailed before the war and the wages which are now being paid in this country. The general average of the excess of wages now over those of ante-war times, is as follows:

	Per cent.
Railroads	37
Cotton	50
Woolen	65
Paper	53
Bottons	55
Cigars	50
Ships	44
Domestic	65
Iron and Wood	61
Day labor	40
Average	52

There is not a country on the face of the earth that can show such an increase of wages in the same time. It is claimed that even these rates are considerably under the actual increase, and show that labor in our own country has been better rewarded during more than twenty years of protection than during forty years immediately preceding.

The free traders are trying to deceive the labor element of the country, and the workingmen who are taking an active part in the campaign, should soberly consider these facts.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

Reports from the national republican committee in New York shows that there is no abatement in popular enthusiasm and interest for Blaine and Logan. The remarkable feature of the campaign is the deep and wide-spread interest of the working people in the success of the republican party. They seem to understand the attitude of the parties on the tariff question clearly and to realize that the defeat of the republican party at the polls would be a serious disaster to the cause of labor. During the past few days the national committee has received hundreds of letters from working people in all parts of the country. These letters are usually brief and contain contributions ranging in value from 50 cents to $20. One man writes from Lynn, Massachusetts:

"DEAR SIR: I am a workingman; all of my sons are workingmen. We understand the benefit of protection and want to do our share toward preserving it by keeping the republicans in power. Inclosed find $10."

The superintendent of a large factory at Fall River, writes:

"We have several hundred men and they will all vote the republican ticket with a few exceptions. Two-thirds of them have been democrats. Last night a republican club was formed. A subscription to the national campaign fund was voted. Each man present gave 50 cents. I enclose the total—$119.

A laboring man of Lowell sends the following to the national committee:

"I want to do something for the grand old party of Lincoln and Sumner. My circumstances won't permit me to make a large subscription; I send you my mite, $1."

One letter from Chicago reads as follows:

"I am in one of the packing houses here. We organized a Blaine and Logan club last night. Instead of ordering a $2 uniform, we decided to get one that costs $1 and send the balance of the money to you to use as you may see fit. Inclosed find check for $100."

From Kansas City the following was received:

"The workingmen here are all for Blaine. I am for him to the extent of my vote, and $5, which I send in this letter."

A working girl at Kansas City, writes to the national committee this letter:

"I read the paper every day and know that wages will be lower if the democratic party is successful. I can't vote, but I send you $3. It may help out a little."

One of the members of the committed, who has been active in a good many national campaigns, says he never knew in all his political career a time when the common people were so interested in politics; and the committee never before received such proofs of the hold that the republican party has on the hearts of the people as it does in this campaign.

This is the sentiment that confronts the democratic party in its attempt to get control of the government.

A Broker in Trouble.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The World says: "William J. Hutchinson was not at his office Tuesday. He is said to be at his cottage at Seabright, prostrated by his manifold misfortunes. It is less than three years ago since Hutchinson made $2,000,000 in the Hannibal & St. Joe corner by his peculiar transactions as broker for John R. Duff, which were considered so fraudulent that he was expelled from the stock exchange. After making restitution to Duff to the amount of $750,000, he had left a clear fortune of $1,250,000. Yet in a brief period since that time Hutchinson has succeeded in spending nearly all that vast sum, and after paying his indebtedness it is declared he will not have a dollar. He owes nearly $300,000 on the street, and it is doubtful if he can liquidate these claims without the assistance of his wife, who has a large fortune in her own right."

An Enterprising Youth.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 27.—It leaked out Tuesday that the People's bank, on Seventh street, had been robbed by Edward Mason, the assistant bookkeeper. He is a boy 16 years old, and was left in the bank Saturday afternoon for about an hour after the close of business. The outer door of the vault was left open to enable him to put away his books. There were two cash compartments in the vault, one containing counter cash and the other the reserve fund. The boy had learned the combination to the cash-box, and opened it and took $6,021. He then put up his books and closed the outer door. The head bookkeeper came in, but supposed the vault was all right, and the robbery was not discovered until Monday morning.

THE POLITICAL FIELD.

Senator Edmund's Remarks at a Republican Mass-Meeting

A Delegation of Workingmen Takes Issue with Gen. Butler—"The St. John Circuit"—Mr. Blaine's Illness—Notes.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 27.—The principal Republican rally of the campaign so far was held here Tuesday. The exercises were held in the city hall, which was densely crowded. Addresses were made by Congressman Horr, of Michigan; Stewart, of Vermont, and John Frost, of Maine. Senator Edmunds presided. The following is a verbatim report of his address:

GENTLEMEN: I thank you for the compliment implied in selecting me to preside on this interesting occasion. As you have come here to listen to distinguished gentlemen who have not the felicity of residing in Burlington, and some of them not even the comfort and safety of living in Vermont—the policy of sound politics—it would be both ungracious and cruel in me to occupy the time that has been devoted to our guests. I must say, however, that a very close study and observation of the professions and practices of the Democratic party in congress and in the country that the generous confidence of my fellow citizens have enabled me to make for a long period, have demonstrated to my mind that the safety and welfare of the people of the United States continue to demand its exclusion from power. Whatever doubts or difficulties may embarrass our countrymen here or elsewhere in the United States, it seems to me that in the present attitude of political affairs the defeat of the Democratic party is a need fairly paramount to any other. I recognize fully the liberty of belief, of opinion, and of action that belongs to citizens—it is a fundamental part of our creed; and none of us can fail to feel the great responsibility that results from that freedom. Under such responsibility and looking at every aspect of the public weal, the people of the state of Vermont are again to express their opinions on the principles, the methods and the purposes of the Democratic party. It has been wrong for more than a quarter of a century, and I fear will continue so for a great a length of time to come. In the recent periods, when it has had control of one or other of the houses of congress it demonstrated its unfitness for government in respect to nearly all the important measures it proposed or resisted, and every succeeding year seems to decorate it with a new folly.

Criticising Butler's Statements.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A delegation of workingmen called on the national Democratic committee Tuesday morning. It was composed of J. A. Thompson, president of the Car Drivers' union; J. J. Cavanaugh, president of the Engineers' union; H. M. Abell, president of the Brass-Worker's union; A. A. Cursey, president, and R. O. Ferrier, secretary of the Independent Labor party. They presented the following answer to statements made in Gen. Butler's letter of acceptance:

We desire to correct the statement made by Gen. Butler that the Democratic convention at Chicago refused to insert in its platform a single demand of the workingmen in a plank in the interest of labor. The committee on resolutions granted a hearing to three committees of workingmen—one from the National Labor party, another from the Federated Trades unions, and a third committee of New York workingmen, and inserted in the platform every measure demanded by these bona fide representatives of labor.

We also wish to correct the misstatement that Governor Cleveland has failed to carry out the pledges made in the platform of 1882. The opposite is the case. Every measure demanded by the workingmen has been granted despite the active and earnest opposition of the Republican legislature, and by his efforts more has been granted to the workingmen in the way of practical legislation than has been done by all the labor unions or political parties from the Declaration of Independence to this day.

The delegation added that the Democratic party of New York had granted every measure asked by the Anti-Monopoly League and Labor party and done more for the workingman than any other party since the Declaration of Independence. They also defined Governor Cleveland's vetoes of the 5-cent fare bill, etc., and say that these bills were not demanded by the laborers, but by middlemen and speculators.

"The St. John Circuit."

ROUND LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The St. John national temperance meeting was commenced here Tuesday afternoon, with a witty and pointed address by Mrs. Fixen, of Minnesota. She spoke for more than an hour. At night Mrs. Yeomans, of Canada, addressed the convention. She is doing active work for St. John in the present campaign. Many speakers of national distinction will occupy the rostrum during the progress of the meeting, which will close on Sunday. Saturday afternoon ex-Governor St. John will speak. It is supposed that many hundreds will be present to hear the temperance candidate. This convention is one of over thirty being held under the management of Rev. J. A. Copeland, of Buffalo. They comprise what is called the St. John circuit. It is one of the features of the St. John campaign.

Mr. Blaine's Health.

RANGOR, Me., Aug. 27.—By the advice of his physician Mr. Blaine was compelled to disappoint the people of East Corinth, Tuesday, where he was announced to be present with Messrs. Gibson, of Ohio; Burrows, of Michigan, and Bontelle, of this city.

Political Points.

Democratic congressional conventions have nominated William H. Neece in the Eleventh district of Illinois, B. J. Hall in the First Iowa, Judge Stanley Woodward in the Twelfth Pennsylvania, and George R. Yaple in the Fourth Michigan. The Democrats and Greenbackers in the Des Moines district of Iowa placed in the field Judge W. H. McHenry for the long term, and William Kirlor for the short term.

Delegates to the Kansas Prohibition convention are promised from thirty-six counties. Col. A. B. Jetmore, a Topeka lawyer, has the best chance of nomination for governor.

The Illinois Republican state committee is being urged to nominate a candidate for congress in the Second district, where an Independent had a majority of 2,500 a year ago.

The Democrats of Iowa are making preparations for an immense mass-meeting at Davenport Sept. 3, being the occasion of the state convention.

Referring to Gen. Butler's complaint that he was allowed only thirty minutes to present his resolutions to the Democratic national convention, a New York man says he sat on the stage close enough to Butler to touch him, and after he had been speaking for some time he paused and asked Chairman Vilas, "How long have I spoken?" Thirteen minutes," was the chairman's reply. "My God," rejoined Butler, "how can I ever fill in thirty minutes?"

Wolseley to Take Command.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Standard announces that Gen. Lord Wolseley will at once proceed to Egypt to take command of the expedition up the Nile.

The Farmer gets both a Windfall and a Wind Mill.

Ticket No. 12,333, in the July drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, drew the first capital prize of $75,000, and one-fifth was held by a well-to-do farmer in the town of Cansadaville, Tenn. A reporter visited him. He said his $15,000 would enable him to live comfortably the rest of his life. He now would have a windmill—something that his heart had long been set upon. He drew his money through the bank of commerce of this city—Memphis, Tenn., Avalanche, July 26.

THE PLEURO-PNEUMONIA.

What Dr. Paaren, Illinois State Veterinarian, Says.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Dr. N. H. Paaren, state veterinarian, was seen at his residence on his return from Elmhurst, where he and Dr. D. E. Salmon, of Washington, have been inspecting the cattle affected with pleuro-pneumonia on the farm of John Boyd. The doctor found the spread of the disease there much worse than he had been led to expect. Mr. Boyd's cattle are thoroughbred Jerseys, and very valuable stock. He has already lost four of them by the disease, and eleven more were condemned by Dr. Paaren, so that they will have to be killed. The cattle are valued at from $250 to $500 each.

Dr. Paaren said: "The diseased cattle will all be destroyed, and a post-mortem examination made. I intend to pursue this course all through the state, destroying the stock that is affected with pleuro-pneumonia, and establishing quarantine until the plague is stamped out. The disease has spread considerably in this state, but I don't expect to find it anywhere as bad as at Elmhurst."

"Do you know when or how it started?"

"Yes; I have traced it back to the large cattle sale at Virginia, Ill., on the 21st of last February. That sale was conducted by A. G. Epler, who bought up Jerseys from different parts of the country, but chiefly from Ohio. By far the greater number were bought of C. H. C. Dye, a dealer at Troy, Ohio, and I am inclined to think that the disease was brought into Illinois from that source. Mr. Boyd purchased some cattle of a man named Clark at Geneva, and I find that Clark bought them at Epler's sale. The disease is infectious from the time the first symptoms appear; consequently it is not always possible to separate the sick from the well ones in time to prevent communication. The safest plan is to destroy them as fast as they contract the disease, and leave no possible chance for them to give it to others. Dr. Salmon has gone east to find out how much of the disease there is in that region, and will take a look through Ohio. In the meantime, I think it will not be long before we shall obtain control of the disease of this state. Just now it seems to be confined to the Jersey cattle, but the idea that it is peculiar to that breed is a mistake."

CLOSING UP THE LEAK.

Amendment of Some Virginia Financial Legislation.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 27.—The general assembly has adopted the report of the joint committee of conference, appointed to consider disagreements growing out of the consideration of house bill No. 2, declaring the true intent of the Riddleberger bill. The report reads: "Strike out all after the word money in line thirty-three," and insert the following: "The date of exchange referred to in this act shall in all cases be taken to be July 1, 1882, and this act shall be construed as if it had been so expressed in the act approved of Feb. 14, 1882, and no new bond shall under this act be given for any coupon or interest on registered bonds mentioned in this section maturing after July 1, 1882." This closes the leak in the act of Feb. 14, 1882, discovered by Judges Bond and Hughes. The legislature has agreed to take recess until Oct. 22.

PEASE IN A PREDICAMENT.

He Is Charged with Being Handy with His Pen $6,000 Worth.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Joseph N. Pease, an importer of foreign fruits at 85 Beaver street, has been arrested, charged with forging the signatures of McDowell, Pierce & Co., wholesale grocers; Charles Parsons & Sons, wholesale fruit dealers, and Underhill, Stewart & Schott, wholesale fruit dealers, to notes aggregating about $6,000, on which he raised money at the Mechanics' National bank. Pease had long borne an excellent reputation among his fellow merchants. He declined to make any statement, and seems to be in a dazed state of mind.

Too Proud to Beg, He Starved.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 27.—Frank Waltz, at one time prominently connected with the Xenia powder mills, died here Monday from starvation. For the last three weeks his family has had nothing to eat, but they were too proud to make known their wants, and until the death of the father even the neighbors did not know of their sufferings. Waltz met with reverses at Xenia and lost all his money, when he removed to Dayton four months ago in destitute circumstances. At the time of the father's death the family did not have even a loaf of bread in the house, and his seven children were clamoring for food. Their sufferings have been most intense.

The Chicago Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The soldiers' and sailors' reunion began Tuesday at the Driving park. About 1,500 veterans, principally from the northwest, are present. Kaiser Wilhelm and the Y. M. C. A.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The Emperor William has sent a letter to the conference of Young Men's Christian associations now in session in this city, welcoming their presence and expressing gladness at a movement likely to promote the invigoration and spread of the religious life in all parts. He regrets that by advice of his physicians he is compelled to refrain from attending the meetings.

Fire Caused by Gasoline Explosion.

ULRICHSVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 27.—Tuesday evening F. F. Koebletz, hardware dealer, took a lighted lantern too close to a tank containing gasoline when the latter exploded, and instantly the whole building was wrapped in flames. The fire communicated to the adjoining building, and in a short time both buildings were a complete loss. The loss is $40,000; insurance, $25,000.

Fast Time on the Northwestern.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Last Monday the Northwestern ran a special train of four cars from Chicago to St. Paul in seven minutes less than twelve hours. This is the fastest time ever made between these two points, except when the Northwestern ran the Associated Press train through in eleven hours, a little over a year ago.

MAUD AND JAY-EYE-SEE.

Bonner, of The Ledger, Has the Little Mare,

And Also the Option of Possessing the Gelding if He Beats 2:09 3-4—The Mare to Try Again.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—"Maud S. is to go to Hartford to-day on the 7 a. m. train," said Mr. Bonner. "She is to be in charge of Grant, her groom. I would not send her in the rain Tuesday, and thought I might have made arrangements to send her that evening, I would not run the risk of having her land in Hartford at night. She will be in a special car. In her quarters in Hartford she will be cared for by both Grant and Bair. Each is pleased that the other is to have a hand in preparing the mare for her great effort. I'm more delighted than ever with her. My son drove her Tuesday, and and he says Lucy Cuyler can beat her for half a mile, but on a mile stretch the great mare will beat the other."

"Have you any news about Jay-Eye-See?"

"I haven't bought the gelding. I don't want him unless he beats Maud S. By the way, I was misunderstood when it was printed that I had set a price on him. I would not set a price on Mr. Case's property. He has given me a certain option, but I am not at liberty to say what it was."

The World says: "The great Jay-Eye-See trotting race against time, which was to have taken place over the Prospect park course Tuesday, has been postponed and the race will now be of greater interest. If the little gelding beats the record of Maud S. of 2:09¾, he will belong to Mr. Bonner; if not, Mr. Case will continue to own him. Mr. Bonner was in conference Tuesday with Hamilton Busbey, of The Turf, Field and Farm, relative to the price offered for the rival of Maud S., and it was definitely settled that no purchase should take place within three weeks. Now that Bonner has Maud S.," said Mr. Busbey, 'he does not especially care for Jay-Eye-See. After the great record made in Providence I was empowered to offer a certain sum for the gelding, and at Chicago Mr. Case drew up a contract under which he would sell his phenomenal trotter. If Jay-Eye-See does 2:09¾ to-day Bonner will get the refusal of him for a month. Then Maud S. will be put in training, and in three weeks she will try to lower the record. If she fails Jay-Eye-See will belong to Bonner, who stands ready to meet Case's terms, which are not unreasonable. But as long as Maud S. stands at the head of the list, Bonner is satisfied and will not care to add to his stable.'"

Will Probably Be Dismissed.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 27.—United States Marshal J. G. Tracy, of Galveston, appeared at the executive office Tuesday morning with a warrant for the arrest of Governor Ireland, issued in Galveston on the 15th, upon complaint of one Emile Francois, a white man, who has been confined in the penitentiary four years for marrying a negro woman, the particulars of which have been given in these dispatches. The governor said he would not resist arrest, but informed the marshal that, notwithstanding the warrant bore upon its face evidences of legality, he doubted his authority to execute it. The marshal then held a conference with District Attorney Jack Evans, and again calling on the governor said he would not execute the writ, and acting under the advice of the district attorney, would go home and recommend that all proceedings be dismissed. This will end the suit.

Wrecked on the Greely Trip.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 27.—Henry Biederbeck, one of the survivors of the Lady Franklin bay expedition says: "I shan't live a great many years, probably not until I am 30. The government ought to do something for me, as I never will be able to labor again. If I ever do get money enough to keep me I shall go back to old Germany."

THE COLLIERS' CAMP.

Exciting and Pathetic Scenes in the Pennsylvania Coal Regions.

Thirty-Four Strikers Arrested for Conspiracy—"Hard Times Come Again No More"—Reinforcements in the Camp.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—Scenes of the most exciting and pathetic character were enacted Tuesday in the neighborhood of the miners' camp in the fourth pool. Early in the morning a large number of the strikers assembled on the railroad track near Noel's mines. They made no attempt to interfere with the men who went to work, and made no outcry of any kind, but before they had been there long Constable McClure, with a posse of deputies, arrived on the ground and notified all the strikers that they were under arrest. A number left as soon as they saw the constable approach, but thirty-four were present on the track when he came up. They made no resistance, but accompanied him quietly to the office of the justice of the peace of Greenfield. The streets were full of spectators, who hooted the officers and cheered the prisoners, but there was no attempt at a rescue. The formality of waiving a hearing and issuing commitments for the strikers was soon gone through with. At its conclusion they were served with a breakfast of dry bread and coffee. One old man, who was bent almost double with age and hard work, laid his bread on the ground and in a trembling voice began to sing, "Hard Times Come Again No More." The picture of the old man as he sang was pathetic in the extreme, and brought tears to the eyes and curses to the lips of all who heard him. When he finished it had the leaders been so disposed a riot could have resulted in the destruction of every coal tipple in the district. Not only the strikers but the 500 outsiders who witnessed the scene, were wrought up to a terrible state of excitement. This was renewed later in the day when the prisoners were loaded into wagons to be taken to jail. Their wives, many of them with babies in their arms, demanded the privilege of going with the men, and actually took possession of one of the wagons. The officers called on the citizens for assistance to remove the women, but not a man stirred, and when the wagons were driven off the women were with them. On the way, however, they were separated by a subterfuge and brought back to Greenfield. In the afternoon 450 miners from the lower pools and three brass bands arrived at the camp determined to stay there until victory crowns their efforts or until they are all in jail. Money was also received from the railroad district. Operator Noel is in the city for the purpose of consulting counsel on the subject of securing the removal of the miners' camp. He says the whole Monongahela valley is stirred up to a pitch of excitement never before equaled, and urges that prompt action be taken by the authorities.

Waiting for the Other Fellow.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Sun's London cablegram says: Notwithstanding the bombardment of the arsenal at Foo Chow, no official declaration of war has yet been issued by either France or China. The French journals say that China will formally declare war. This will enable the French government to continue hostilities without summoning a meeting of the chambers. So far there is no reason, except the statement of the Paris papers, to believe that the authorities at Pekin, who are thoroughly well posted as to the condition of affairs in Paris, will take the initiative and thus extricate M. Ferry from the dilemma in which he is placed. China, it is now authoritatively stated, has informed Admiral Courbet that she regards his bombardment of Foo Chow as tantamount to a declaration of war by France. Each nation is seeking to conciliate neutral powers by endeavoring to fix the responsibility for the outbreak of war upon the other.

Funds for the Bartholdi Statue.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Gen. Stone, of the Bartholdi statue committee, said: "We have received so far nearly $150,000, and need about $125,000 more, which is a little more than was anticipated. We have money enough to build the pedestal up to the cover joint course, but no further. The foundation mass is entirely finished. If we had plenty of money the pedestal would be completed by the end of November."

"How long will it take to raise the statue after the pedestal is completed?"

"About three months. The statue has been placed on board the vessel which is to bring it, and if it arrives here and and finds us penniless it will have to repose in the barracks until the people learn the statue is a tribute to the whole country, and not to a section of it. We have not much more than $30,000 on hand at present."

Chicago & Eastern Illinois Bonds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Application under date of June 11, 1884, has been made by the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad company to the stock exchange to list $6,000,000 first mortgage 6 per cent. bonds dated June 2, 1881. These bonds are on 238 miles of the road, and are intended to retire present bonds, complete and equip the road, and discharge other obligations. Of the bonds, $4,500,000 will be held by the Central Trust company to exchange for the company's outstanding bonds. The company operates 315 miles of road. Its total stock and bonded obligation is $9,000,000. It has car trusts and other equipment obligations of $1,079,651; cash and securities on hand, $1,977,867. The gross earnings for eleven months ending May 31 were $1,447,881.

Kissed His Wife and Died.

BUFFALO, Aug. 27.—Capt. Louis Bogart, of the Lehigh Valley line propeller R. A. Packer, which arrived at 6 o'clock p. m., dropped dead on board his vessel two hours later as she lay at the connecting terminal elevator. On passing Detroit he had shown what might be called a forewarning of his death by telegraphing his wife to meet him on board, which she did. He was feeling quite well, and with his wife and children about him bantered her about not kissing him when they met. She replied that she would do so now, and on doing so he dropped dead in her arms.

They formed part of the lot of city, state and southern railroad bonds, to the value of $3,000,000, captured at the same time, the major portion of which was subsequently returned to the state.

Badger Cooking Stoves and Ranges,

BURN HARD COAL, SOFT COAL OR WOOD. Have been THOROUGHLY TESTED, and their practibility IS FULLY ENDORSED. Read what is said about them:

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 19, 1884.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

Gents: After giving the Badger Range a fair trial, it affords me great pleasure in saying that the te t has been in every respect most satisfactory. I find in it all you claim for it, namely: the most perfect cooking arrangement I have had the pleasure of seeing. Its mechanical construction is so perfect, and the ease by which it can be controlled, will enable any one of ordinary intelligence to make its use a complete success. For baking purposes it is first-class. The amount of fuel required for its use is less than any stove I ever saw, that would accomplish as much. Another strong point in its favor, is to be able to keep up a fire, night and day. After holding the fire through night in the morning we get our breakfast by the same fire, without any addition of coal or delay in kindling. In conclusion, permit me to say that if I could not get another I would not part with my range for twice the amount of the purchase price.

Yours truly, N. DEARBORN.

Janesville, Wis. March 7, 1884.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

Gentlemen: Having a desire to procure a cooking stove that would work with the least possible difficulty in burning coal—as I am about to move to Dakota I took home and tried one of your No. 8 Badger Stoves, and have now run it several days with the greatest success, and this my first experience in using coal for cooking purposes. It is quick in the action with either coal or wood, heating evenly all four griddles, with no lack of heating reservoir speedily. The baking is beyond question second to no fire I have ever seen in a kitchen.

GEO. H. CULVER, Shopiere.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 13, 1884.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

In reply to how I like the Badger Range would say it fills the bill in every particular. I have used it with coal, wood and coke. With coal can easily keep a continuous fire, and it is as ready to bake at six o'clock in evening as at any time of building fresh fire. As compared with other ranges used by my neighbors, I consider the Badger KING

The Ker Brothers in the War.

[Philadelphia Times.]

Andrew G. Curtin, the great war governor of Pennsylvania, has a wonderful memory concerning those who entered the military service of this state during the war. Not long ago William W. Ker, the lawyer, was introduced to him, and the first question the governor asked was whether he was not one of the four Ker brothers who volunteered together for the war. "I am," answered Ker. "What has become of the other three?" asked the governor. "Do you know, I remember the names of every family of two or more brothers who enlisted in Pennsylvania." Ker then told him what the fate of his brothers had been. "We were all six feet high. The oldest went into a cavalry regiment and in one of the actions before Richmond had his arm broken by a bullet. He staggered, supported by a friend, to the rear, when a second shot pierced his body, paralyzing the entire right side of it. At this time orders were issued that the commissioned officers incapacitated for service should be retired. Unwilling to leave his regiment, he had special trappings made for his horse, and, strapped to the saddle, did afterward good service in the field and was with the army that hung on Lee's rear after his defeat at Gettysburg in 1863. The soldiers called him the paralyzed captain, and he remained with his regiment in that condition until the close of the war. He was then appointed to a captaincy in the regular army, but I met the messenger bringing his commission with the words, 'My brother has just died.' Our youngest brother, who was only 17 years of age, was killed in front of Richmond. His body was never recovered. A friend of the family, who was in the fight with him, said that a ball struck him over the heart, whereupon he flung up his hands and fell over stone dead. This was the last ever seen or heard of him. The bodies of the killed were so disfigured by mud and lime that recognition was impossible. My other brother, Richard, remained with me in the service until the surrender."

The Caddish English Editor.

[Eli Perkins' London Letter.]

When I asked a distinguished London author what kept up the caste in England between honest worth and titled vulgarity, he said:

"It is the caddish English editors."

"What do you mean by a 'cad'?" I asked.

"Why, a cad is a person who is always fawning on nobility. In America you would call him a boot-licker, a cringing sycophant. The English editor is always boot-licking the nobility. The columns of his papers are always full of my lord this and my lord that. He runs his newspaper for the aristocracy, whom he reverences. If all the caddish editors would drop the vulgar, worthless aristocracy and begin to write about people of worth and brains, the ignorant aristocracy would soon die out. The silly editorial cad thinks he must have paragraphs about a score of dukes or lords in every issue to give his newspaper tone. The paragraph may be inane and silly, but the name of a titled lord, he thinks, will float it. Pick up piles of The Times and you will see such paragraphs as this:

The marquis of Queensbury and the duke of Buckminster returned with their dogs from Nottinghamshire yesterday. After dining with Lord Buckstone at Morley's they all attended a trial of strength between the duke of Buford's bitch Thunder and the marquis of Kingsley's bull-pup Sampson.

"In a word," said my friend, "the fact that two dissolute titled blackguards had returned from hunting, got drunk at Morley's, and attended a dog fight in the evening, is paragraphed by this caddish editor, while the most worthy act of some educated person is left out. Yes, the English editor is a cad, and the editors of The Times are cads of cads."

A Harbor for the Old.

[Coventry (Eng.) Cor. Pioneer Press.]

Our latest visits have been to the Gray Friar's hospital (once the only entrance to the city from the south, but now a home for old women, where they each have a delightful little room looking out into the garden court of the old monastery built in 1358, but purchased and given by William Ford in 1529 as a hospital and home.) We went into several of the rooms and talked with the cheerful old occupants, many of them over 80 years old, and found them not only contented, but eminently comfortable. They bring their own furniture, except the beds and open grate range which warms and cheers their strange old convent cell rooms. Flowers in quaint vases adorned their tables, little black tea kettles sang on the hob before a soft coal fire, the little square-panel windows, dimity-curtained, showed their pretty gardens in the great sunny court, for each old lady has her garden-bed, which a gardener plants and of which he takes charge for her. A bell rope, with firm, large handle hangs beside the pillow, so at night, if ill, the poor woman can call immediate attendance.

"We only die of old age," said the funny old portress who showed us over the building: "a doctor visits us all twice a week, and we have everything good to eat—vegetables from Lord Leigh's garden, and some from our own little plots—so we can drink our tea and make our patchwork here in the sunshine, and just wait till God calls us." One envies such childlike content as that!

ON THE SUNNY SIDE.

[James Whitcomb Riley.]

Hi and a whoop-hooray, boys!
Sing a song of cheer!
Here's a holiday, boys,
Lasting half a year!
Round the world, and half is
Shadow we have tried.
Now we're where the laugh is—
On the sunny side!

Pigeons coo and mutter,
Strutting high aloof,
Where the sunbeams flutter
Through the stable roof.
Here the chickens cheep, boys,
And the hen, with pride,
Clucking them to sleep, boys,
On the sunny side!

Here the clacking guinea,
Here the cattle moo,
Here the horses whinny,
Looking out at you!
On the hitching-block, boys,
Grandly satisfied,
See the old peacock, boys,
On the sunny side.

Robins in the peach tree,
Blue-birds in the pear,
Blossoms over each tree
In the orchard there!
All the world's in joy, boys,
Glad and glorified,
As a romping boy, boys,
On the sunny side!

Where's a heart as mellow!
Where's a soul as free?
Where is any fellow
We would rather be?
Just ourselves or none, boys,
World around and wide,
Laughing in the sun, boys,
On the sunny side!

GEORGETOWN'S PAST HISTORY.

Its Former Prosperity—Washington's Stopping Place.

[Ben: Perley Poore.]

Georgetown was a port of commercial importance before Washington City was located on its western border. Situated at the head of navigation on the Potomac river, a number of wealthy London mercantile houses had sent young Scotchmen there to purchase tobacco and peltries. Some of them located themselves permanently, and with them were a number of merchants from New England, among them my grandfather, Mr. Allen Dodge, a native of Ipswich Hamlets, now Hamilton, and his younger brother, Francis Dodge, one of whose daughters I afterwards married.

I have heard these relatives give, in their old age, interesting accounts of the commercial prosperity of Georgetown immediately after the revolution. Tobacco and other agricultural products were brought there in large quantities in wagons and shipped direct to Europe, and the planters for hundreds of miles around purchased their supplies from Georgetown merchants. Large ships were anchored at the wharves or sailing in the river; country wagons were coming and going along all the roads leading to the District, some of them great boat-shaped wagons from Pennsylvania, each drawn by six horses that merrily jingled their bells through the streets, and dray-loads of coffee, sugar, tea, dry goods, building material, etc., were hauled from the wharves to the warehouses or the retail stores.

The cession of the ten-miles square to the United States for the seat of government made Georgetown prosperous for awhile, as it was the seaport of the metropolis. All the supplies for the new city were landed at the Georgetown wharves, and many government officials resided there while the trees were being felled and the streets graded in the new capital. President Washington used to stop at Georgetown on his way to and from Philadelphia, and it was there that he had the conferences with Maj. L'Enfant which resulted in the adoption of the magnificent plan only recently fully developed. The arrangement made with the owners of the land was not satisfactory to some of them, who were dissatisfied because the capitol was not located on their farms. It is related that being somewhat vexed with the mercenary spirit displayed by a Scotchman named Daniel Burns, Washington exclaimed:

"Why, you are a rich man, but what would you have been had not the federal city been located here?"

"Hoot, mon," was the reply, "and what would you hae been worth had ye no hae married the widow Custis?"

Mr. Goshorn's Experience.

[Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.]

"Jarphly," said Mr. Goshorn in a confidential tone, "there is something wonderfully singular about the seashore. A man will take more solid misery there and fancy he is enjoying himself than you'd think human nature capable of."

"Mebbe it's the air," suggested the thin man.

"Mebbe."

"Or the clams?"

"Mebbe clams."

"Or getting tight where nobody knows you?"

"No, sir," sternly responded the other. "It is simply the fact that where one idiot goes another will follow. I went there and paid a man $3.50 a day for the fun of sleeping in a sweat-box that smelt like a lime-kiln and living on luxuries that would disgrace an ordinary free lunch. In the daytime I baked to death on the broiling sands and scorched my eyes on the parboiled water. At night I 'tended a musquito convention. They made me chairman. The landlord said musquitoes were only bad when the wind blew from shore. I found that was so, for it blew from shore all the time. I ate clams and then wished I hadn't. I paid double price for half-price drinks, and 5 cents to look at some suds in the bottom of a beer glass. I blistered my nose if I went out-doors, and blistered my temper when I staid in. I found out that people who live near the seashore always go away from it in hot weather, to give us other idiots a chance to enjoy ourselves probably. In fact, Mr. Jarphly, if it was not for the philanthropic pleasure it affords the human heart to do a kindness, and the opportunity that exists at the seashore for supporting the orphans who keep the hotels, I do not think the shore would have many attractions."

He Was Full of 'Em.

[Mrs. M. L. Rayne.]

Uncle Simon enjoyed being sick and having a fuss made over him, and he sent once some distance for a prominent physician who, after he had examined him, said solemnly:

"You are full of idiosyncrasies."

"Full of what?" gasped Uncle Simon.

"Idiosyncrasies. Medicine will not help you, so I needn't waste any of it upon you."

"That's the end of it, Hannah," he said to his wife when the doctor was gone. "I knew my case was hopeless. You'll be a widder now in dead earnest," and he sent for his lawyer and made his will.

But he is alive to-day, has a new cork leg, and is learning to ride a bicycle.

Mrs. Ann Lacour, of New Orleans, La., writes: "I have a son who has been sick for two years; he has been attended by our leading physicians, but all to no purpose. This morning he had his usual spell of coughing, and was so greatly prostrated in consequence, that death seemed imminent. We had in the house a bottle of DR. WM. LOW RAILWAY RATES.

A Cut by the Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Passenger rates out of Chicago, east and south, have been demoralized for some time. Heavy reductions have been obtained through the scalpers to almost any point, and it has been feared that the war of a year ago would be repeated. That these anticipations have not been groundless is shown by the announcement of an open cut on passenger rates to Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, and all points south by the Eastern Illinois. The following rates have been decided upon by that road:

Chicago to	Full rate.	Cut rate.	Round trip.
Indianapolis	$5.50	$3.75	$ 7.00
Cincinnati	8.85	6.00	17.75
Louisville	9.00	6.50	12.50

William Hill, general passenger agent of the Eastern Illinois, was asked the occasion of this reduction, and he replied that it was done in self-protection. His competitors had for some time been cutting rates, not only through the medium of scalpers, but some of them had violated the pool agreement over their counters. His people had stood it as long as they could, and now proposed to meet any rates made. His line had a differential of $1 to Cincinnati and 75 cents to Indianapolis, and the rates they would announce would be the rates at which the tickets of their competitors were selling, minus the differentials.

E. C. McCormick, general agent of the Monon, admitted that rates were badly demoralized, but insisted that his line was strictly maintaining tariff. He has informed General Passenger Agent Baldwin of the current rumors, and was awaiting instructions. He had little doubt that any open cut would be promptly met.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Ohio Telephones Worrying Along Taxation-Free.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27.—James M. Bell, clerk in the law library in Columbus, has found out that the Bell Telephone company has not paid any tax upon their telephone boxes, wires, etc. He proposed to the commissioners to collect $80,000 taxes from the corporation if he was given 10 per cent. The bargain was made. It was shown that the Bell company, with headquarters in Boston, has never listed its property, which it is claimed should be valued at $300 a telephone. The number of telephones in Hamilton county would make the valuation $800,000.

Our Present Blessings.

MISCELLANEOUS.

"FOX'S BOOK OF MARTYRS" contains many frightful stories of most agonizing suffering. But nothing, either in story or picture, can be more distressful than the sharp, severe, shooting pains daily and nightly endured by those who are martyrs to that most terrible torment, Neuralgia. To get rid of this martyrdom is the first business of all who suffer.

ATHLOPHOROS regenerates painful nerves, and drives out the horrors of Neuralgia.

ATHLOPHOROS gives health to Rheumatic sufferers whom the most skillful physicians have not been able to heal.

ATHLOPHOROS operates on the blood, muscles, and joints; and dissolving the acids that cause Rheumatism, removes them from the system.

ATHLOPHOROS is pronounced by all who have tried it an infallible specific for these obstinate and painful diseases.

Read the testimony of one of the sufferers. David Little, Sumner, Benner Co., Iowa, writes:

"I am past 77 years of age, have had the Rheumatism three years and eight months; lost one-third of my weight; could not walk, but shuffled along on crutches; could not sleep; nerves shattered. No strength in my hands, wrists, knees or feet. But thanks be to God for your great discovery! The medicine arrived Saturday night. I took a dose Sunday morning, felt it all over me, and kept on with it. Monday morning I got up and dressed myself, and walked out into the kitchen without the aid of crutch or cane, and wished them all a happy New Year. I rest well nights, am gaining in strength, and once more enjoy life. Wish I could put ATHLOPHOROS in the hands of every sufferer from this terrible disease."

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

The Best Fruit of Medical Science.

Dyspepsia is immediately relieved by Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters. Quick acting, highly medicinal.

Mere outward application of so-called remedies for rheumatism and neuralgia must necessarily fail of their purpose, because the origin of the trouble is untouched. These twin diseases are essentially diseases of the blood, and must be dealt with accordingly. This is just what Athlophoros aims to do, and the success that has been met with can best be measured by the hundreds of unsought testimonials that the manufacturers are daily receiving.

Obituary.

Another old landmark of Rock county has been removed by death. On Saturday morning, August 16th, 1884, Julia Ann Dykeman, wife of Cornelius Dykeman Sr., passed peacefully away from these earthly scenes. Her death occurred at her home about one mile south of the village of Fairfield. She was one of those, whose lives abound in good and useful works, and in the 80th year of her age with true christian fortitude she fell asleep in Jesus.

Mrs. Dykeman was born in Albany, N. Y., on September 4th, 1804. In the year 1842 together with her husband and family, she came to Wisconsin and settled on the southeastern part of Rock Prairie. Here her subsequent life has been spent, where she has lived to see her children settled comfortably around her. Five sons, one daughter and a devoted husband mourn her loss. She was held in universal esteem by all who knew her, and every visit to her home was rendered pleasing and profitable by her genial manner, her kindly ways and her conversation, which ever love an exalted spiritual tone. For over 53 years she has been a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and an ardent worker in the cause of Christ, her name being a household word in many Methodist homes of eastern Wisconsin. She was a lover of God's word, and her memory was largely stored with many rich passages therefrom. Her trust for salvation was solely in the merits of Christ Jesus, and the religion of her heart evidenced itself in a holy and useful life. Her senses were in a measure dulled, and the nimbleness of youth had departed, but her reason was preserved to the last. A little before her death at morning devotions, with her husband, she prayed with her accustomed fervor, but the message had come, it found her ready, she obeyed willingly the call, and departed "to be with Christ which is far better." She was ever a true Christian, a devoted mother and an affectionate wife.

The funeral services were held on Monday, Aug. 18th, at the M. E. church, Fairfield, of which she was a member. The Rev. D. O. Sanborn, of Richmond, by her request, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. T. S. Cadams. A large concourse of people assembled to pay their last token of respect to the deceased. She "rests from her labors and her works do follow her."

Fontana Park.

GENEVA LAKE, August 25th, 1884.

In order to shake off a little care and take some recreation away from farm industries, one has to go to Geneva Lake to take in the whole catalogue of pleasures and groups of interest that go to make up and fill up a few weeks of leisure and comfort. The charm of romance is added to the many attractions by the the Indian mounds, the bluffs and mills, the Indian names given to the numerous parks bearing some legend connected with the location, and pointed out to the stranger by the old settlers of the vicinity. Stories of great battles between hostile tribes having been fought in the long time ago, and many relics of the same being found, go to make up this belief into a reality.

This lake is nine or ten miles long, and will average about two miles wide, with splendid banks surrounding, and boats of the larger class can be seen close to shore at any point. The banks are elevated just enough, and covered with a variety of shade trees which nature planted, and art could not improve. This lake is supported and made up from springs mostly from the west end, which are very numerous along the hills. The same springs water the numerous parks and their elevation makes the many beautiful fountains that most of the parks have.

The waters of the lake are clear as crystal and you can plainly see the stones on the bottom in twenty feet of water. It is said that the lake is two and three hundred feet deep in places, and it certainly produces fine fish, as we had occasion to know. The writer with two friends, on one occasion, in the forenoon, caught one hundred and seventy and the most of them were the black bass, a splendid pan fish. We supplied all the campers at Fontana Park.

Four steamers run at regular hours, and then there are seven or eight other private and trading steamers that run at they choose, besides a score or more of yachts and a thousand little boats on the lake every day. On Wednesday last there was said to be ten thousand visitors around the lake as the Odd Fellows and Masons had large delegations. Every state in the Union and some of the old countries are represented here and the ladies put the name on their tent, Camp Compact.

Janesville is represented at their camp by Kimball, Leavitt, Bliss, of the Gazette; Ashcraft, Lane, the Wrights, Jackson, Chapin, Lovejoy, and their families are with them.

Johnstown is represented by A. M. Carter, A. B. Carter, C. A. Carter and their families, Fletcher, Cole, Coggswell, Henry, the McLeays, McFarlanes, and Hamiltons, Dr. Mills, Beardsley, Barlass, and others. I think most of the towns in the county of Rock are represented on the lake. There seems not to be any one park of the twenty around this lake more favorite than another, and stop where you will you can go to any of them at any hour of the day by the numerous steamers running for a small compensation, make your visit and return at pleasure.

Camp Colly furnishes the preachers for the different parks on the Sabbath as they have some two hundred dominies there taking their vacation and not many of us have heard their old sermons and they would not be expected to write new ones here.

Lectures from the many professors on different subjects during the week fill up the time, but people during the heated term choose to while away the time in the shade, go bathing, fill out a game of euchre or whist to the taking of more violent exercise. The proprietor here is fond of and plays a good game of euchre, and he finds plenty of the company to accept his challenge. The proprietor is the most genial agreeable gentleman to be found in the country and together with his amiable wife they look after the interests of their guests in such a manner as to baffle the chronic grumbler. People from the cities and from the south, find a place here where they can live cheaper than at home, and find all the luxuries, and fare sumptuously every day. Of the beauties of the surroundings, one lady remarked, "I wish my mother was here." She was told that she could give her a description of them on her return. "Description!" echoes the lady, "no person can give a description of Lake Geneva and its surroundings." That was my opinion. It has got to be seen, and you can't do the lake in a week certainly, stay a month, and come again next year and then don't undertake to write it out to your friends. Those that are here can see and feel its refining power.

Johnny Smith and his band was here a few days last week, and played for large parties at the Whiting house and Forest Glen, and gave a big treat to the patrons of Fontana. The lovers of the waltz say to Johnny, "Come again."

Time is up, and we must away to our homes, well pleased with our sojourn, and feeling better qualified to enter into the duties necessary to keep up with the procession. A. M. C.

How the "Doestreeker" Want Economy.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 27.—The attorney general has been called upon to decide whether in the cases of the public buildings at Syracuse, Minneapolis, Leavenworth and St. Joseph the limit has been repealed by congress in making appropriations exceeding the limit originally fixed, or whether it has simply been increased to the aggregate of the appropriations made. The importance of this point lies in the fact that it is desired to commence buildings of greater cost than the sums appropriated, and this cannot be done if a limit remains in force.

Heavy Fire at Scranton, Pa.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 27.—Fire was discovered in the glazing shop attached to the planing-mill of Joseph Ansley, Hyde park. The flames spread with great rapidity, and soon the reached the office, mill and sheds adjacent. By the time the firemen reached the scene the flames seemed to threaten destruction of all that portion of the city. Nine engines for five hours poured continuous streams of water, and by their strenuous efforts confined the fire to the lumber yard. All the buildings in the yard and a large stock of manufactured lumber were totally destroyed. Loss, $75,000; insurance small.

THINK OF IT.

Why buy either of the Baking Powders now waging such a newspaper war, when THEIR OWN CHEMISTS certificates they contain

ALUM,
LIME,
AND AMMONIA.

A little reflection will convince any housekeeper that where there is so much cry by their manufacturers of adulteration, it is time to leave those brands of Baking Powder alone, and buy that which the tests of the kitchen as well as the guarantee of the manufacturers is evidence of its purity. When you buy a can of Baking Powder, take the well known

Peerless Baking Powder.

AND YOU WILL HAVE THE BEST IN THE WORLD.
